Choose your own personal assistants

We'll help you find your perfect personal assistant

Imagine being able to choose who comes into your home and when.

Now you can!

HomeCareDirect truly believe that you should have complete choice and control over the whole recruitment process of your personal assistants (PAs) from start to finish. We also believe you should then have full involvement in when your chosen PAs provide your support.

By being involved throughout, you will always know who is coming into your home and be able to choose when you receive your support. By using personal health budgets to organise your support, you are free to choose your own PAs. They could be a friend, neighbour or family member (restrictions may apply if they live in the same house) or it could be someone found through interview.

Whoever is chosen, HomeCareDirect will employ the PAs on your behalf, giving all the choice and control without the hassle of being an employer. If you don't already know someone you would choose to be your PA, HomeCareDirect will also help you interview and recruit; finding your ideal match!

HomeCareDirect will do all necessary safeguarding and criminal record checks on your behalf and train them to meet your individual care needs to Care Quality Commission standards. Therefore, your chosen PA does not need to have any previous care experience.

With HomeCareDirect, whole PA teams will be made up of people you have chosen. Unlike a traditional care agency, you choose who comes into your home and when. This means that with HomeCareDirect your support is not dictated by our internal rotas, meaning your PA will not be rushing off to their next client.

In our experience matching the right PAs with individuals builds a strong and long lasting support team.

Therefore, we'll help you find a PA who meets your individual specific needs - i.e. someone who has the right skills but also the right personality and outlook.
