Truly personalised training

We listen to the experts – You!

Imagine your personal assistants being specifically trained to care for you.

By directing your own support at home with HomeCareDirect, your personal assistants training will be tailored specifically for you.

When you choose to use the HomeCareDirect service, you will begin by choosing your own personal assistants (PAs).

Whether your chosen PAs are qualified care professionals, or friends/family with no previous care experience, HomeCareDirect can train them to ensure they have the skills to provide high quality, specialised support that is specific just to you.

Direct involvement in what your PAs are trained in is encouraged and they will only be trained in areas that are specific to your requirements – giving you greater control over the standard and quality of your support whilst keeping the training costs to a minimum.

HomeCareDirect recognise that people are the experts in their own situation, and ensure they're involved at every step of the training process.

We feel it is important to recognise two types of expertise – both lived and learned.

Where possible, HomeCareDirect will always aim to complete training in your home, so that you are as involved as possible.

HomeCareDirect has great knowledge and expertise in the care sector, and our team of qualified staff enable us to provide quality training.

HomeCareDirect has experience in providing and sourcing all types of training ranging from day-to-day social care to complex health care needs. Our training packages are compatible with national standards, following Skills for Care and Care Quality Commission (CQC) standards.

We also work in partnership with other local and national specialist training providers to meet the needs of people with up to the most complex of health funded needs to be supported at home with a personal health budget.
